

Phelps County Center For The Performing Arts

We recently had a concert by Bettman and Halpin at our performing arts venue, and audience members are still raving, notably including many who are usually strictly classical fans. In other words, this is no run-of-the-mill “bluegrass” band! I would recommend them not only for the wide variety of truly good music they perform and the lovely stories they tell between pieces, but much moreover for the extraordinarily high quality of musicianship they bring to the stage.
